GARDENING & NATURE

WEDNESDAYS, JULY 6 – NOVEMBER 16

Wednesday Walkabouts

1:00 – 2:00 PM

Led by Jenkins Arboretum & Gardens Staff

Join us on Wednesday afternoons this summer and fall as we celebrate the change of seasons. Jenkins' staff will lead you on in-person tours through the garden featuring our robust botanical collections. Each week will have a different focus depending on the seasonal landscape and the staff leader. Topics could include summer wildflowers, pollinators, fruits & berries, fall foliage, or native trees and shrubs. Get outside and discover Jenkins with us!

Free of charge

MONDAYS, JULY 11 & OCTOBER 17

Bird Walks

8:00 – 9:00 AM

Led by Bonnie Witmer, Birder and Visitor Services Associate, Jenkins Arboretum & Gardens

Join us for birding with Bonnie! Enjoy early access to Jenkins during summer breeding and fall migration. Explore various habitats including woodland, pond edge and stream-side paths. Discover the GISS method to identify our feathered friends by recognizing the general impression, size, and shape of birds. Participants will learn to use their eyes, ears, and binoculars to find birds and other wildlife. Bring binoculars if you have them. Dress for the weather and wear comfortable shoes with good traction. Rain or shine.

Members: $8/walk | Non-Members: $12/walk

SATURDAY, JULY 30

Moth Night

8:30 – 10:30 PM

*Presented by Barb Elliot, Co-Director, Backyards for Nature
Program of the Valley Forge Audubon Society*

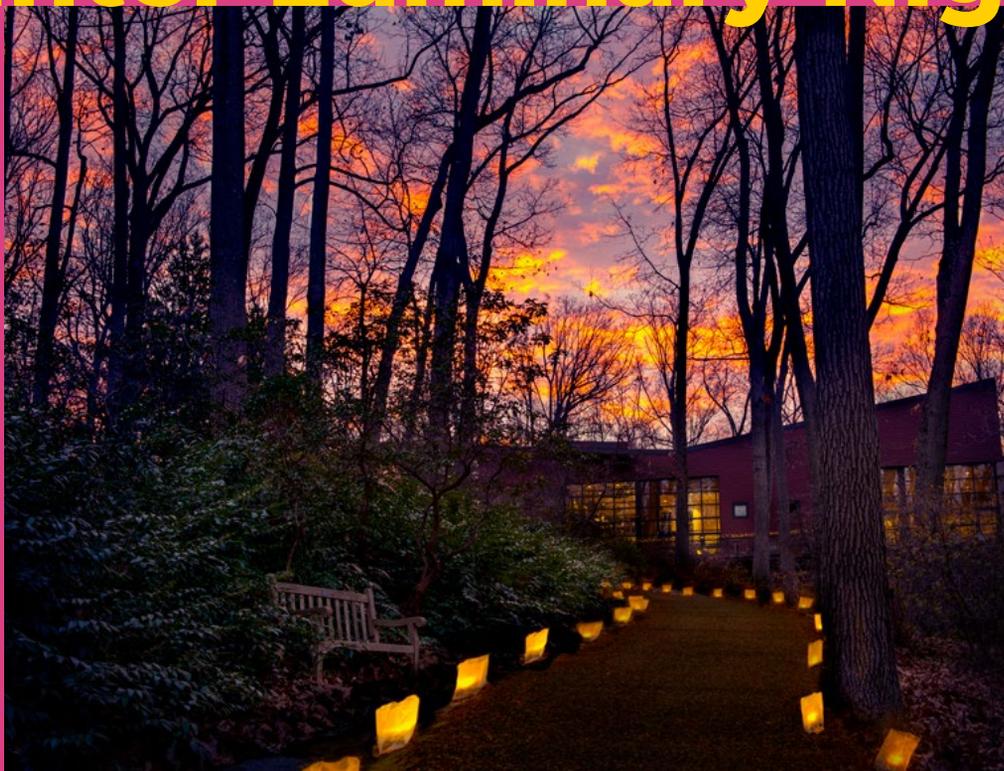

Discover the diversity of moths and the fun of "mothing" during this evening exploration! Join us to celebrate National Moth Week (July 23 – 31) with local moth enthusiasts Barb Elliot and Sheryl Johnson. Learn all about moths with an indoor presentation, then head outdoors to a light station to see what we can attract for close-up viewing. Bring a flashlight or headlamp.

Inclement weather date: Sunday, July 31.

THIRD THURSDAY LECTURES

THURSDAY, JULY 21

PA's Rare, Threatened, and Endangered Plants and the Unique Habitats They Live In

7:00 – 8:30 PM

Presented by Cheyenne Moore, Plant Conservation Network Coordinator, Pennsylvania Department of Conservation and Natural Resources

Pennsylvania is home to over 3,000 plant species, including hundreds of rare, threatened, and endangered species. Explore how we determine what species fit into each of those categories. Many of Pennsylvania's rare, threatened, and endangered species are associated with specialized habitats like waterways, rocky slopes, or wetlands that aren't that common in the state. Join Cheyenne Moore to discover some of the state's unique habitat types and the rare plants that live in them.

Free of charge | Virtual event

THURSDAY, AUGUST 18

Pennsylvania's Changing Climate

7:00 – 8:30 PM

Presented by Kyle Imhoff, PA State Climatologist

Join Kyle Imhoff to explore Pennsylvania's observed historical trends in weather patterns and extreme events, as well as future projections of the changing climate's impacts on the state and region. This talk will also provide a brief overview of climate change science from a global perspective and discussion of science communication—from successes and failures to public perceptions of climate change.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15

Native Grasses for Your Garden

7:00 – 8:30 PM

Presented by Tom Smarr, Executive Director, Jenkins Arboretum & Gardens

Grasses are not just in the lawn or a green tuft along the roadside. Grasses are an important part of the ecological structure of many plant communities, and provide aesthetic interest in the garden. There are a wide variety of native species that grow in a spectrum of conditions with a diversity of shapes, colors, and growth habits. Join Tom Smarr to learn more about great species, selection, and design combinations of how to use native grasses in your own garden.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20

The Forest Pests & Firewood Connection

7:00 – 8:30 PM

Presented by Leigh Greenwood, Forest Health Program Director, The Nature Conservancy

Forests across all of North America are increasingly impacted by invasive insects and diseases like emerald ash borer and spotted lanternfly. Forest health expert Leigh Greenwood will take a global approach to describing what can (and maybe already has!) become a problem in your own backyard. Learn how new infestations expand—often through seemingly unrelated issues like firewood transport and holiday floral arrangements—and how you can advocate and act to protect your own favorite places.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 15

Celebrating the Seasons of a Pennsylvania Garden

7:00 – 8:30 PM

Presented by Donald Pell, Owner, Donald Pell Gardens

In 2008, designer Donald Pell set out to establish a garden where he could explore, learn and teach. This led him to purchase a 14-acre historic farm in Chester County, Pennsylvania, which he has been systematically converting to gardens ever since. These gardens began as highly competitive and stable warm season blocks that had gravitas late in the season and have evolved into more intermingled plant communities of cool and warm season layers that add resiliency and depth to the plantings. Explore the beauty of our seasonal landscape and what has and hasn't functioned at the studio garden, as well as clients' gardens.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 13

Gemstone Bracelets for Growth & Grounding

10:00 – 11:30 AM OR 12:30 – 2:00 PM

Presented by Jessica O'Connell, Owner, Beads of a Feather

Like the gardenia and Sacred Lotus, establish your roots and grow from the foundation you have cultivated this summer. Most feel they are at their best when the sun is warm and the days are long. Carry that energy into the seasons ahead by creating a bracelet totem of your own using crystals that encourage growth, grounding and wellness. Soak in and surrender to a time of reflection through guided meditation and creativity as you indulge in an array of all-natural gemstones. Participants will make one bracelet. Suitable for adults and teens.

FRIDAY, JULY 29 – SATURDAY, JULY 30

Pond Photography Workshop

7/29 | 6:00 – 8:30 PM

7/30 | 8:00 AM – 1:00 PM

Presented by Laura Ducceschi, Fine Art Photographer

The Pond at Jenkins is a showstopper in the summer! From wildlife to bold flowers and leaf textures, the Pond provides the perfect opportunity to learn and practice skills for creating both landscape and close-up images. Award-winning photographer Laura Ducceschi will illustrate some of the challenges and solutions when photographing water, including lighting, angles, composition, and layering. Friday evening begins with indoor instruction, preparing for shooting down at the Pond with exclusive access on Saturday morning. The class will wrap up with a chance to share images from the morning.

Participants need to bring their own camera with which they have some familiarity. Cameras with interchangeable lenses will have the features needed to take full advantage of the class. Bring a fully charged battery and a camera card with space to shoot freely. Tripods are recommended. Some activities are not applicable to point-and-shoot cameras.

TUESDAYS, SEPTEMBER 6 – NOVEMBER 1

Botanical Observations: Autumn Objects of Field and Forest

6:30 – 8:30 PM

8-week virtual series (no class 10/18)

Presented by Margaret Saylor, Botanical Artist and Illustrator

Let's take a closer look at some of the wonderful natural elements that make up our autumn outdoor world! Join Margaret Saylor virtually to draw (or paint) a new specimen each week. Not only will you learn about that week's botanical theme, but you'll see how these subjects fit into the broader realm of contemporary botanical art. Themes will include: flowers, fungi, moss, lichens, leaves, seed pods, gourds, and fir trees.

All levels welcome; some drawing experience helpful but not necessary. A recommended materials list is available for review prior to registration.

Members: $175 | Non-Members: $200

SATURDAYS, SEPT. 17, OCT. 15, NOV. 19, DEC. 17

Photo Walks

9:00 – 11:00 AM

Presented by Laura Ducceschi, Fine Art Photographer

Join us to shoot the season! Award-winning photographer Laura Ducceschi will be your mentor and guide for these monthly small group sessions. Stroll the gardens and photograph what inspires you while learning various compositional and technical options on the spot.

Participants will need to bring a camera, a fully charged battery, and a camera card with space to shoot freely. Photographers with any kind of camera can benefit, but DSLRs are recommended.

Rain dates: Third Sundays, 9/18, 10/16, 11/20 & 12/18.
